

KIA JONES

Okay. We're going to start.

Okay you just want to try and tell us what you remember happening that day from the time you got into the pool area.

We met in the gym and Fisher...we met in the gym and usually she goes down to the pool area first and then I follow after her after I make sure all the children are out of the gym area and that happened this time the only thing different is she had to go down out the outside because there are so many stairs from the girls lockerroom area to the pool area so she went the outside door and when she got down there and got settled in then I cleared the kids out and told them to go get dressed and they had 10 minutes to get in the pool. Okay, so that took up an extra five minutes so it's most likely had 15 minutes 'cause it was an extra five and then we went to and then I went down to the girls lockerroom to the pool area and before I went to the outside area I locked the outside doors so no one else could come in to the pool and I went down to the girls lockerroom to the pool area. And then um I grabbed the attendance book, I sat down at the table and I was working on attendance and then I stopped working on the attendance because a student of mine, Keandra Hunt, had called me and she was like, "Look, Miss Jones look, Miss Jones I can swim better than the last time we were in the pool." And I was like, "Oh, that's good," you know, I was telling her that she was doing really good and I was at that time I was in the shallow end and up Fisher was in um the wheelchair sitting with her foot propped up with pillows and she was telling the kids, okay before you go in the deep end, we need to have you do your flutter kicks. Everyone needs to get in the pool. It took a little while for the children to get in the pool, mind you, because they had an extra five minutes 'cause normally it's ten minutes.

Okay
